THE GLOBE.

Thursday Afternoon, May 30, 1861.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

☞ Every Subscriber to The Globe is requested to act as Agent to extend its circulation and usefulness.☜

We are anxious to publish a first class newspaper, and with the assistance of our subscribers we know we can be put in possession of the means to do so. We want every subscriber to interest himself, not only in procuring for us additional patronage, but also in putting us in possession of all the local news of the county of interest to the general reader. A little effort on the part of all our patrons would be as much to their advantage as to ours, as with increased patronage we would be enabled to give a better paper. We cannot afford to put THE GLOBE at less than 1.50 a year, and to enable us to deal honestly with all men we must demand the subscription yearly or half yearly in advance. Subscriptions can be sent to us through the mail at our risk, the Postmasters witnessing the same. We earnestly and most respectfully ask our friends to make an effort to increase our patronage.

THE GLOBE JOB PRINTING OFFICE.

Connected with THE GLOBE, we have a Job Office furnished with a more extensive assortment of the latest style of types and materials than can be found in any other county town in the State. Our work compares favorably with any done in the cities. We have four presses, which enables us to put out all kinds of Job work with dispatch and at reasonable prices.

THE HUNTINGDON INFANTRY.—This is an able-bodied company, and we are pleased to learn that it will soon be in camp. The following order was received by Capt. Harrison on Wednesday evening:

HEADQUARTERS VOL. RESERVE CORPS,
Harrisburg, May 29, 1861.

CAPT. A. S. HARRISON,
Huntingdon, Pa.,

Sir:—You will hold yourself in readiness for orders to march with your command to the new Camp at Pittsburg, as soon as suitable arrangements can be perfected for your reception, which will be in a few days.

By order,
Major General G. A. MCCALL,
Eldridge Meconkey,
Capt. and Aid-de-Camp.

THE SCOTT INFANTRY.—This fine company from Huntingdon Furnace, commanded by Capt. Dare, left for Harrisburg on Wednesday morning last. The Harrisburg Daily Telegraph of the same day says: "The troops in Camp Curtin were this afternoon reinforced by the arrival of two companies—the Scott Infantry, Capt. Dare, of Huntingdon county, and a company from Lock Haven under the command of Capt Lyman. The members of the former were fully equipped in their company uniform, and presented a fine appearance on their march through this city to camp."

IN GREAT DEMAND—The Union envelopes and paper printed at the "Globe" job office, and for sale at Lewis' Book Store, where also can be found all the latest and handsomest styles of Union breast-pins for ladies and gentlemen, coat and shawl pins, badges and flags.

VARIETY ENVELOPES, containing a fine assortment of commercial and fancy note paper, letter and note envelopes, steel pens, etc., at wholesale prices, for 25 cents. Prepared and for sale at Lewis' Book, Stationery and Music Store.

A NEW STYLE OF NOTE PAPER AND ENVELOPES—"red, white and blue"—for sale at Lewis' Book Store.

OUR CORRESPONDENCE.

JUNIATA, May 28, 1861.

DEAR GLOBE:—I see by the Phila. Inquirer, of the 20th inst., that our Pennsylvania Regiments are still neglected and shamefully treated. How long this treatment will continue it is difficult to know, I see the 5th Regiment, (to which our Standing Stone Guards belong,) have been imposed on, and our worthy friend R. B. Petrekin, Major of it. I think he must have changed through some cause, or we would have heard his voice in behalf of his men. Major, never forget the private soldier, or companies under your command. The 14th and 15th Regiments at Camp Johnston, near Lancaster, are in a miserable condition—TO uniforms yet; and I see in the Inquirer the commissary department does not give them what they are entitled to. The meat they get is not fit to eat. Every friend of the volunteers is asked to assist in ferreting out this villainous game practiced by land sharks about the Capitol at Harrisburg. I am informed by persons who have received letters from members of the Union Guards, of Petersburg, that many of them are destitute of necessary clothing and have no money, and are also in need of tobacco, stationery, &c. These wants have been made known to many citizens of Porter township, (that being the home of a number of the Union Guards,) by letter, and I understand that Mr. Jos. M. Becker, who I know to be one of the most generous men our county can boast of, and a few other citizens, all friends of the soldiers, sent them a box of tobacco, &c., last week, which was received with cheers.

I think it the duty of every citizen to aid them in every manner they possibly can, undoubtedly it is nothing more than their duty. The expression, "Poor fellows, I pity them," does not alleviate their wants, but that is all they receive from many.

Yours truly,
A VOLUNTEER.

The Star-Spangled Banner.

Oh! say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming!
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there!
Oh! say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foes haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam;
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream—
'Tis the star-spangled banner! Oh, long may it wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war, and the battle's confusion,
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wash'd out their foul footstep's pollution!
No refuge could save the hireling and slave,
From the terror of flight or the gloom the grave!
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved home and war's desolation!
Blessed with victory and peace, may the Heaven-rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto—"In God is our trust!"
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

Appointments by the Governor.

The Harrisburg Daily Telegraph of the 29th, says: Jacob Fry, of Montgomery county, has been appointed by Gov. Curtin, to act in conjunction with Benjamin Haywood, to examine into the bids for supplying, and the supplies which have been furnished to, the volunteers of Pennsylvania. Mr. Haywood has been engaged for some time in gathering the evidences attending these supplies—and it is the full determination and intention of Gov. Curtin to probe this business to the quick, and expose (if there is any) all the frauds which it is alleged have been committed in the furnishing of supplies and clothing to the volunteers of Pennsylvania.

The public, we think, can rely with confidence on the gentlemen appointed to conduct this investigation. If fraud has been committed, Messrs. Haywood and Fry will most assuredly ferret it out—and if there are any guilty parties to the wrongs alleged to have been perpetrated, they will now be brought to justice. On the subject of allegation, Mr. Haywood has addressed to all who are in the remotest degree connected with our military organization, and therefore we trust that these charges will either be refuted, the authorities vindicated, or the guilty parties of every degree brought to prompt and merited punishment.

Until this investigation is had, we trust that the judgment and the apprehension of the public will be suspended, until all the circumstances have been investigated, and the facts in the case fully laid before the people.

☞ The Richmond Dispatch—the paper having the largest circulation in Virginia—says in closing one of its last week's leaders:

"This very moment ought to see our long range cannon planted on the heights of Arlington, and the bayonets of our legions on the Long Bridge.—Not another week should pass over our heads without witnessing the capture of Scott and Lincoln, and leading them in triumph through the streets of Richmond."

A pleasant fact for the rebels to know, that it is now too late for them to "come in." When the news reaches us that Scott and Lincoln are being led captive through the streets of Richmond we will issue a double sheet extra and then die out for all future.

☞ One of General Butler's shrewd professional freaks is told by a young factory girl, formerly employed in one of the Lowell mills. She had been discharged, and the corporation refusing to pay her, she sought legal redress and retained Mr. Butler for her counsel. He listened to her case with much interest, and afterwards consulted the representatives of the corporation, who still refused to pay the girl her wages. Butler then issued a writ and attached the main water wheel of the establishment, and by bringing the whole manufactory to a stop, the corporation, rather than allow their mill to remain idle and await the law's delay, paid the girl her wages and resumed operations.

☞ The New York Tribune gives the following hint to those contractors who are wronging the soldiers and the generous people by rascality in the price and quality of uniforms, blankets, rations, &c. It says:

They must be summarily dealt with, and at the very beginning of the war, before their crime becomes chronic. Wellington's remedy would be effectual. In the Peninsula War, some peculiar Commissioners, who made money by furnishing bad provisions to the army, were sent by him first to a drumhead court-martial, and thence to the gallows. Let New York and Pennsylvania traffickers, who palm off rottenness and putrescence upon our troops, profit by the example.

WASHINGTON, May 28.

The Pennsylvania Regiments.

The Fourth and Fifth Pennsylvania regiments, encamped about two miles north of the Capitol building, have had Gov. Curtin's letter read to them by the special agent sent on to examine and report upon their condition. They are already receiving new outfits, and every deficiency will be most scrupulously supplied.

Two Men Shot Near Alexandria.

Two citizens of Alexandria, who on their word of honor declared that they were loyal to the United States, were recently granted passes, with permission to return to that city at pleasure. They went beyond the outside guards to-day, got into the bushes, and fired upon the guards of the U. States Artillery. They were immediately pursued and shot. The passes referred to were found in their pockets.

Alexandria.

Alexandria is now held by the New York 71st, Michigan, and Zouaves Regiments, one company of U. S. Cavalry, and one company of U. S. Artillery, with six guns. Three hundred of its families are suffering for want of food, their heads, being poor, and having no work, had enlisted on account of the wages promised them, and had gone off to the Southern army.

Military Movements in Western Virginia

Information has been received here that over 2,000 Ohio troops from Camp Dennison yesterday took possession of the Northwestern Virginia Railroad from Parkersburg to Grafton, a distance of 80 miles intervening, and proceeded in the latter direction.

A larger number also crossed below Ohio, three miles from Wheeling, for the same destination. This is indicative of events at Harper's Ferry.

From Alexandria---A Fight.!

Yesterday thirty Zouaves met a party of thirty or forty Secessionists a few miles from Alexandria, with whom they had a skirmish, resulting in the death of one and capture of six of the rebel party.

The Fifth Massachusetts Regiment Capture two Rebels.

Yesterday the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment extended their pickets four or five miles into the country. They captured two of Jeff. Davis' men—one of them, disguised in a ministerial garb, proved to be a colonel!

Arrests in Washington.

Arrests are made every day. Three or four occured yesterday. One is accused of poisoning the sugar barrel in a camp.

Another was arrested—Brown, a market man, for rebellious language and acts; he was imprisoned in the common jail.

Another was arrested on the Avenue, opposite the Chronicle office, for the too free utterance of seditious sentiments.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Col. Butler, of Massachusetts, a brother of Major Butler, of this city, and had an interview with the President this morning.

He says that over 100 fugitive slaves have already taken refuge within the United States lines, and Gen. Butler wants instructions from the Government as to what he shall do concerning them. It is understood that the Government endorses his previous course, which has been to protect the negroes, refuse to give them up, and employ them in constructing the defences.

All is quiet in the military world here to-day.

The Government is satisfied that by the 15th of June the blockade will be effective along the entire line of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Horses and Wagons for the Army.

HARRISBURG, May 29.—There are now on the west bank of Paxton creek, at this city, some 400 horses, and about 70 baggage wagons. It is understood that they will move in the direction of Chambersburg in a few days.

Important News from Western Virginia.

CINCINNATI, May 29.—On Sunday night Col. Kelly, in command of the 1st Regiment Virginia Union volunteers stationed at Wheeling, received marching orders and left Wheeling at 9 o'clock on Monday morning, moving towards Grafton. After their departure, the 17th Ohio Regiment, one thousand strong, stationed at Bellair, under command of Col. Irwine, crossed the Ohio and were followed by Col. Kelly's command, the 19th Ohio Regiment. Col. Steadman crossed the Ohio at Marietta about the same time, and occupied Parkersburg at midnight on Monday.

The rebels have evacuated Grafton, departing in great haste. Col. Kelly is probably in possession of Grafton this morning.

Before crossing the Ohio, Major General McClellan issued a proclamation to the Union men of Western Virginia, setting forth that the troops came as friends; that their homes, families and property were safe under their protection; that no interference would be made with their slaves; but, on the contrary, any attempt at insurrection would be crushed with an iron hand. The General's proclamation to his soldiers, says, you are ordered to cross the frontier and enter upon the soil of Virginia. Your mission is to restore peace and confidence, to protect the majesty of the law, and rescue our brethren from the grasp of traitors. I place under the safeguard of your honor, the persons and property of the Virginians. I know you will respect their feelings and all their right's preserve the strictest discipline; remember that each one of you holds in his keeping the honor of Ohio and of the Union. If you are called upon to overcome armed opposition, I know your courage is equal to the task; remember that your only foes are armed traitors, and show mercy even to them when in your power, for many of them are misguided. When, under your protection, the loyal men of Western Virginia have been enabled to organize and arm, they can protect themselves, and you can then return to your homes with the proud satisfaction of having preserved a gallant people from destruction.

Important from Fortress Monroe.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The following was received this morning from the correspondent of the Associated Press, at Fortress Monroe:

FORTRESS MONROE, }
Monday evening, May 27. }

A force of 2,500 men, embracing the Vermont and Ninth Massachusetts Regiments and the Steuben Guards of New York, with a few regulars and four pieces of artillery, formed to-day an entrenched camp near the mouth of James River, and about ten miles from this post, across Hampton Roads.

The rebel battery fired four shots at the Empire City and Quaker City, when off Sewell's point. Though at the distance of over three miles the shot fell but little short, indicating that the guns of the rebel battery are of the heaviest calibre.

The Point of Newport News, like Sewall's Point, is in plain sight from the Ramparts of Fortress Monroe.—The roadstead is there about three miles wide.

One object of the entrenched camp is to command Sand Island, which is about midway between and completely guards the entrance of the James River. Gen. Butler was fearful that the rebels would take possession of the Island.

Newport News also commands to a great extent the Peninsula between the James and York rivers. A large force is to be assembled there, and so important a movement is likely to meet opposition. Only a few persons were seen at the Point.

There was evidently great activity at Sewall's Point.

Hampton is nearly deserted. The Long Bridge there was burned on Saturday.

The weather is intensely hot, but the troops are in excellent health and spirits.

On Saturday night Professor Grant's calcium light was used, and illuminated the most distant reaches of Hampton Roads.

Later from Fortress Monroe.

BALTIMORE May 29.—A small steamer from Norfolk, under a flag of truce, has just landed over a hundred refugees on board the Cumberland. They are mostly the wives and children of the laborers in the Navy Yard. The most intelligent state that there are from 7,000 to 9,000 men at Norfolk and Portsmouth.

General Beauregard had not arrived there.

Butter was worth 50 cents, and hams 25 cents per pound, and other provisions high in proportion.

Sixty-seven Union votes were cast at Portsmouth, and over twenty at Norfolk. A feeling of terror and gloom pervaded the community.

No immediate attack on Sewell's Point or Norfolk need be expected.—Gen. Butler is not the man to risk valuable lives for points of so little strategetic importance, compared with others so near at hand.

The Proclamation of the Queen of England.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The steamship Etna has arrived. The following is in relation to the American war:

Whereas, we are happily at peace with all the sovereign Powers and States; and whereas, hostilities have unhappily commenced between the Government of the United States and certain States styling themselves the Confederate States of America; and whereas, we being at peace with the Government of the United States, have declared our royal determination to maintain a strict and impartial neutrality between the said contending parties, we therefore have thought fit, by and with the advice of our Privy Council, to issue our royal proclamation; and we hereby warn all our loving subjects, and all persons whatever entitled to our protection, that if any of them shall presume, in contempt of this proclamation and of our high displeasure, to do any act in derogation of this duty, as subjects of a neutral sovereign in said contest, or in violation or contravention of the law of nations, and more especially by entering the military service of either of the contending parties, as commissioned or non-commissioned officers or soldiers, or by serving as officers, sailors, or marines on board of any ship, or vessel-of-war, or transport of, or in the service of either of the contending parties, or by engaging to or going to any place beyond the seas, with the intent to enlist or engage in any such service, or by procuring, or attempting to procure, within her Majesty's dominions at home or abroad, others to do so; or by fitting out, arming or equipping, any ship or vessel, to be employed as a ship-of-war or privateer, or transport, by either of the contending parties, or by breaking, or endeavoring to break, any blockade, lawfully and actually established by or on behalf of either of the said contending parties, or by carrying officers, soldiers, despatches, arms, military stores or materials, or any article considered and deemed to be contraband of war, according to law, or the modern usage of nations, for the use of either of the said contending parties, all parties so offending will incur and be liable to the several penalties and penal consequences by the said statute, or by the law of nations, in that behalf imposed.

And we do hereby declare that all our subjects, and persons entitled to our protection, who may misconduct themselves in the premises, will do so at their peril and of their own wrong, and they will in nowise obtain any protection from us against any liabilities or penal consequences, but will, on the contrary, incur our displeasure by such misconduct.

Given at Richmond Park, May 13, 1861.

ATTEMPT TO FIRE THE CAPITOL BUILDING.—On Sunday last the watchman at the Capitol, while going his customery rounds in the basement of the building, discovered in a pile of dry wood a tightly wrapped bundle of paper, partially consumed and still burning. The combustible material was no doubt placed there by some black-hearted traitor in our midst, with a view of burning the Capitol with all its valuable contents; and his fiendish purpose would have been accomplished, but for the timely discovery of Mr. Luker, the watchman.—Harrisburg Telegraph, May 28.

Truth Well Spoken.

On Friday evening last a meeting was held by the Bible Society in New York, to devise means for supplying the troops raised in that city with copies of the Bible. Several speeches of great merit were delivered on the occasion; but the following, by the Rev. Dr. S. Tyng, is, in our opinion, the very best thing that has yet been said on the subject. We think we never saw a nail hit so squarely on the head as is done in the Rev. Dr.'s reply to the question answered him at the close of his remarks:

Never were a people brought together to maintain dearer rights or more imperiled and important interests than those involved in the present contest. He could not take a pirate's hand, who was going out to secure a prize of twenty dollars a head for every man he murdered, and put a Bible in his hands, as a sanction for his course.—What kind of Union would that be, where the chains of the slave should sound from one end of the land to the other, and the infernal boast be realized that a man should count the roll of his slaves on Bunker Hill? This was not a war of sections; it was not a civil war. He would dignify it by no such name. There were hundreds and thousands in the Southern land praying for the power which should give them help. In Virginia, the scene of eighteen years of his ministry, there were tens of thousands, he believed, who were anxiously waiting for that which is called the army of the North to deliver them from the tyranny that had been usurped over them. He would not condescend to call it civil warfare. He would not meet pirates upon the deck, and call it warfare.—He would hang them as quick as he would shoot a mad dog. [Cheers.]

There was one road to peace, and that was absolute and entire subjection. [Cheers.] He did not mean the subjection of the South, but of the riotous mob which there had control of affairs. The sword of Justice was the only pen that could write the final treaty. Referring to the troops that had been raised, the speaker asked who ever saw such an army as has been gathered in our land? He would not except the rare birds of Billy Wilson's Regiment. He might venture to say of them that their salvation might lie in the very consecration they have made of themselves to their country. [Cheers.] Twenty-three thousand Bibles had been given to the troops who go to fight for their country; did anybody believe there were five hundred copies in the army of renegades who are meeting them in the contest? It would scald and singe their polluted hands. We had every cause to be proud of our army. They are worthy of the Bible. How their names will glisten in glory! One of the noblest results he looked for was a land without a slave upon it. [Cheers.] A nation in which no more shall God's image be sold upon the block by the auctioneer. Said a gentleman, "The Bible authorizes human slavery; you must acknowledge that slavery is a Divine institution." The old minister turned round in my views, but they would not believe her.

As soon as I made my appearance at breakfast, the landlady called me into the back part of the house, and informed me of all that had transpired, and plead with me to say to the committee, if they came, that she had told them truly, that I was a Southern man. I observed that I would not do it. She then said to stay by her and she would fight them off for me, as they would not molest a lady, she knew. I drank a cup of coffee, went out to the stable, saw my horse and prepared to start. She advised me not to attempt it, and, as prudence is sometimes the better part of valor, I took her advice, and went out and passed the troops just arrived, and walked on out to ——, about a mile out of town, and stopped, and am now here writing.

As soon as the troops leave for Prunty-town, if the "Committee" don't follow me up and take me prisoner, I shall return to Webster. I understand as yet no one has followed me, but I am expecting them while I am writing. I trust they may not come for I would not like to be stopped on my journey.

* * * * * * *

I am just informed that the troops have left Webster, so I shall return and get my buggy and horse.

Six of the troops deserted here last night and are off. It is rumored that six men who had deserted on the way were recaptured and hung.

MARYLAND HOSPITALITY.—Our volunteers are lavish in their praises of the hospitality of the people of Maryland. One of them writes as follows:

"We are as well treated as if we were at home. You can form no idea of the kindness of the people. A day or two since we were short of provisions, and the fact somehow got abroad. In a very brief space of time we were abundantly supplied, the neighbors sending us in basket after basket of bread, pies, butter and other articles. The ladies are especially attentive, and have sent us large supplies. Besides this, we have standing invitations to visit the neighboring houses, and make ourselves at home whenever we feel disposed to do so. Go where we will we are always welcome, and our frequent refusals to accept cause sincere regret. If what we witness here is a specimen of Southern hospitality, I can cordially endorse it as the real thing. There is nothing bogus about it."

A NOBLE SPIRIT.—The Philadelphia Dispatch narrates this: "A young man in one of the counties in the interior of the State was instrumental in forming a company, which was accepted. On being inspected at Harrisburg, this young man was refused a commission, on account of a defect in one of his eyes. When his fate was made known to him he burst into tears, in which the company pretty generally joined, for he was an universal favorite with all of them. The first lieutenant, with a magnanimity that does him credit, stepped forward and resigned his commission, and nominated his friend for the post, who was elected unanimously on the spot. The lieutenant now carries a musket, but the facts were made known to Secretary Cameron, who will no doubt see that such a spirit is in its proper sphere."

Pirat Regimont N. HampshireVolunteers.

[From Philla. Press, May 23.]

This fine regiment of soldiers, as we stated yesterday, passed through our city en route to Washington at a late hour on Sunday night. A train conveying their baggage, however, was detained at Broad and Prime streets until eight o'clock yesterday morning.

The regiment is accompanied by fifty ladies, who act as nurses. The men are provided with thirty days' rations, plenty of shirts, drawers, stockings, and all the little comforts necessary in a campaign. Each man is supplied, in addition to the regular uniform, with a light-gray suit for the warm weather, and a gutta-percha blanket, besides the regular army blanket. They have a hospital wagon along with them, well filled with an abundance of medicines for all complaints. Sixteen two-horse wagons accompany the troops, well filled with provisions, besides one four horse wagon—all being made in the most substantial manner, and that, too, at twelve days' notice. They have seventy-six horses, of the best stock, for the regiment, with the complement of teamsters. The regiment is provided with twenty thousand cartridges, and each man has the modern-style musket. All this has been done by the State. This is undoubtedly one of the finest equipped regiments that have yet passed through Philadelphia.—They number nearly one thousand men, and are a fine body of soldiers.—Their dress is gray pants and coat, gray cap with red band around the base.

☞ The troops at Alexandria and its neighborhood are in excellent fighting condition, and the defences are daily strengthening.

WHAT THE SOUTH SAYS.—The Committee on Foreign Relations of the Jeff. Davis' Congress, in a report on Jeff.'s Message, thus speaks:

"The South has the institution of African Slavery, with 4,000,000 slaves. Their slaves have no political power. The white man is a privileged man.—He alone rules the country; whilst the offices of servitude are performed by the slaves. With the North it is different. They have a laboring and dependent class who perform the services of the slaves in the South, but they are voters. With universal suffrage they influence and may control the elections, and through the elections, the government. The evil day, when those who own no property will be the majority at the polls, may be put off for a time."

The foregoing extract is not the gaseous product of some hot-headed Southern editor—but is extracted from a grave State paper laid before the Southern Congress, and may be regarded as the settled views of the rebel government. Let our readers among the working-men—especially "those who own no property," see how they are valued by the very people whom many of them have heretofore been aiding at the polls.

THE REBEL TROOPS IN WESTERN VIRGINIA.

Experience of a Loyal Man Among Them.

[From the Wheeling Intelligencer of May 27.]

We have been permitted to make the following extracts from a letter from Taylor county, received in this city on Saturday morning. We do not feel at liberty to give the name of the writer, but it is sufficient to say that he is one of our most prominent citizens, who is now travelling on business in that section, and that what he writes is entirely reliable.

WEBSTER, TAYLOR Co., May 24.

I am here this morning, and I confess considerably excited. I left Grafton yesterday at 4 o'clock, P. M., under some apprehension as to my getting across the river at Fetterman, but with a good deal of explanation, succeeded in passing the sentinels on the railroad, and at both ends of the bridge. I arrived at Pruntytown in safety, and left for Webster, hoping to be out of all confusion and danger, but to my great surprise just as I entered Webster I met three troops of cavalry, numbering between 300 or 400 men, all well mounted and equipped. These companies stopped in Webster over night. They were from Augusta, Fauquier and Pocahontas counties.

At 3 o'clock this morning another cavalry company, numbering 160 men, came into town and stopped also.—They are from Highland, Hamilton and Barbour counties. Since I have got up this morning, six or seven companies of infantry and riflemen, reported to number some 500 men, have come into town also, and they report over 1,000 men back on the road between Phillippi and Staunton, all marching for Grafton, as they state, "to defend it from Northern aggression."

They have all the equipments of war and camp preparations in addition to the arms the men carry. They have nine or ten wagon loads of guns in boxes, and two loaded with muskets loose. I learn from one of the privates, rather an unsuspecting, innocent man, that they expect to be in Wheeling shortly.

By some means it got reported about that the man with the carriage, at the tavern, was a Wheeling man and a "Black Republican." I met the Colonel of the regiment and had a conversation with him. He is quite a gentleman in his manner, but strongly Southern in his positions. He treated me respectfully, but denounced the National Government in unmeasured terms. I said as little as possible, not knowing what might befal me among so many. A little after daylight this morning, the Colonel (I suppose it to have been from the description given me by the landlady) with several officers came to the tavern and inquired for "the man with the carriage," and said that they wished to see me; that I was from Wheeling and a Black Republican, and they wanted an interview with me in regard to my position. The landlady told them I was in bed asleep, and she hoped they would not injure or disturb me at her house, and prevailed on them not to enter my room. They went away, leaving word with her that a committee would wait on me after I got up. [illegible] this happen, my dear parents, it may be my lot to be injured in some manner.

"Whatever may happen, cherish the consolation that I was engaged in the performance of a sacred duty; and to-night, thinking over the probabilities of the morrow and the occurrences of the past, I am perfectly content to accept whatever my fortune may be, confident that He who noteth even the fall of a sparrow will have some purpose even in the fate of one like me.

"My darling and ever-loved parents, good bye. God bless, protect and care for you. ELMER."

Harper's Ferry.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer, dating, Harper's Ferry, May 27, says:

The effective force consists of five regiments, of which two are Virginia State troops, and one from Arkansas. The latter regiment has been attacked with small pox, and was sent up the Shenandoah to prevent the infection spreading. Capt. David Schriver arrived from Wheeling yesterday morning, with a company of about fifty young men, equipped with gray shirts and pants, but without arms, except a few small pistols and revolvers. They are now being drilled at the armory by a West Point Cadet, whose name we have not heard. General Jackson, or, as he is sometimes called, Colonel Jackson, is the commanding officer here. He is about forty years of age, and of very soldierly bearing. The great body of the troops are camped at a place called Tousontown, two or or three miles back of Harper's Ferry, on the Virginia side. The Ferry end of the Long Bridge is guarded by two brass pieces, commanded by Captain Finley, with the Roanoke Guards, and the Maryland end by a similar battery, under a Capt. Pennington.

There is a battery partly mounted and yet under construction, on the Maryland heights, commanding the whole length of the bridge and the town, and another is about being completed on the Virginia side, and immediately back of and over the town. Four very large guns, said to be thirty-twos, arrived yesterday, and are now being taken up to the Virginia battery to mount.

The troops we have seen are but poorly equipped, and all with the old style flint lock muskets, which appear musty and in indifferent order. * * All here appear to think the place next to impregnable, but they live in a constant state of excitement and alarm, expecting an incursion of the Federal troops at any moment. The railroad is picketed all the way from the bridge to the Point of Rocks, and pickets are also thickly placed up the Hagerstown wagon road, which comes in just at the Maryland end of the bridge. The whole bridge is said to be mined, so that it could be destroyed, as one Secessionist elegantly expressed it, "quicker than fire would scorch a feather." The guards will not allow any person to go on it, unless it is one of their own officers.

Col. Ellsworth's Last Letter.

The following letter, directed to Col. Ellsworth's parents, was written by him the night preceding the visit to Alexandria, which resulted in his death. It seems from its tone as if the gallant soldier must have been impressed with the fact that the expedition would result fatally to himself:

"HEADQUARTERS FIRST ZOUAVES, CAMP LINCOLN, WASHINGTON, May 23.—My Dear Father and Mother: The regiment is ordered to move across the river to-night. We have no means of knowing what reception we are to meet with. I am inclined to the opinion that our entrance to the city of Alexandria will be hotly contested, as I am just informed a large force [illegible]

Western Virginia.

We have returns from 25 counties of Western Virginia, not all accurate, and some giving only majorities, instead of the sull vote. But the result on the question of ratifying the Secession Ordinance is as follows:

Against Ratification,	24,843
For Ratification,	2,295
Maj. against Secession,	22,548

This is as near unanimity as anything well can be, in a country of free suffrage. The counties so voting and the others that are understood to have given Union majorities embrace nearly one-third of the voting population. But for the presence of the rebel troops in other parts of the State, and the general intimidation of the Union men practiced by the State authorities all through Eas-ern Virginia, it is almost certain that there would have been a Union majority in the State at the election of Thursday last.—*Ex.
